Roy Seah

Roy Seah is a consultant at COMAT in Singapore, where he leads an in-house development team to assure standards in WSQ courseware and helps organizations to increase productivity by improving their training focus and making the most of new software features.

Prior to his work with COMAT, Roy spent five years as a principal lecturer at an established computer school teaching media and graphic design, developing new courseware, and refining the curriculum. Other professional experience includes developing and launching a full spectrum of multi-media training and successfully migrating media curriculum.

Roy holds a Diploma in Adult Continuing Education (DACE) and an Advanced Certificate in Training and Education (ACTA) from the Institute for Adult Learning. He is an Adobe Certified instructor and associate educator.
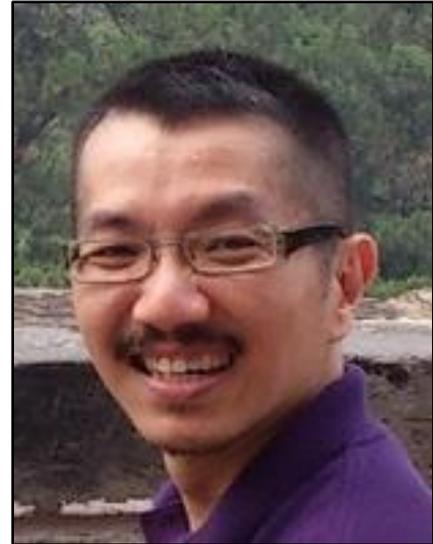

Kirkpatrick Partners

The Standard for Leveraging and Validating Talent Investments™